

Week 4: Logic

BIG IDEA

Scripture treats logic as a vital tool, not a threat: Hebrews calls believers past milk to maturity, Jesus commands loving God with all our mind and models logical argument himself. Students should embrace clear, careful thinking as part of their search for truth, so they can look truth in the face and see Jesus.

KEY POINTS FROM THE LEADER VIDEO

- Hebrews 5-6 urges believers to move from spiritual milk to solid food and maturity; Peter and Paul echo the call to renewed, Christ-like minds.
- Jesus said to worship God with all your heart, soul, mind, and strength, so logic has a clear place in faith.
- Reductio ad absurdum means drawing an argument to its absurd conclusion, like a dad answering 'all my friends did it' with the jumping-off-a-bridge reply.
- In Matthew 22 Jesus uses that same logical analysis in his confrontation with the Pharisees.
- Throughout Acts, in Corinth, Ephesus, Thessalonica, and Athens, Paul constantly reasons from the Scriptures to show who Jesus is.
- Some arguments against Christianity sound good, so discuss them honestly, gauging what your students are ready to handle before diving in.

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

1. Should faith make sense? What parts of faith seem confusing until you think them through?
2. What about your faith does not make sense to you, and what would it take to work through it?
3. How do you already use logic in your relationships to figure out what is true?
4. What is an argument against Christianity that sounds good, and does it hold up logically?
