

Week 5: Worldview

BIG IDEA

A worldview is the set of lenses through which we see and interpret the world, shaping how we answer life's foundational questions and how we live. Students will compare naturalism, pantheism, and monotheism; leaders should not assume students already hold a biblical worldview, and should be patient as change comes slowly.

KEY POINTS FROM THE LEADER VIDEO

- Like the speaker's first pair of glasses, a worldview changes everything you see; it is foundational, life-shaping questions about reality that dictate how you live.
- Students will examine other popular lenses, naturalism and pantheism, then monotheism, because those views reach them through movies, music, art, TV, and books.
- Do not assume your students have a biblical worldview; even church kids often hold a 'buffet' worldview assembled from whatever looked good online.
- The four worldview questions gently draw out what students think and reveal flaws in their thinking, so encourage honest answers, not expected ones.
- Worldviews must be coherent and consistent; the buffet approach eventually fails, and Christianity is compelling because it is entirely coherent and consistent.
- Do not expect students to change worldviews right away; changing how you see reality is a huge, anxious adjustment, so be patient and walk alongside them.

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

1. What lenses are you already looking through, and where did they come from?
2. Where might your own worldview be a 'buffet,' with pieces that do not fit together?
3. How do movies, music, and media communicate naturalism or pantheism to you without saying so?
4. Is your group a place where students answer honestly rather than saying what leaders want to hear? How can you tell?
